For children and adults, orthodontic treatment is truly a life-altering event. Our smile is one of our most important features. It impacts us both socially and in our careers.

Because braces are such a significant life experience, Dr. Robert Ziaja uses an especially conscientious and compassionate approach with his patients. "I give all of my patients individualized care and one-on-one attention," he says.

By seeing each patient at every appointment, never leaving the important work of his treatment to others, Dr. Ziaja is able to create healthier, long-lasting smiles. His patients appreciate the extra effort. Dr. Ziaja treats a lot of dentists' and hygienists' children. These professionals tell Dr. Ziaja and his staff that they can walk down the hall of their child's school and know which students saw Dr. Ziaja. There is something special about a Dr. Ziaja smile — the teeth fit exactly together, resulting in a beautiful flash of a broad, white smile.

It isn't surprising that patients are impressed with Dr. Ziaja's work; he graduated first in his class from the University of Michigan School of Dentistry. He then received his master's degree and two-year specialty residency training in orthodontics at the University of Iowa. He is currently on staff at Crittenton Hospital.

While professional accolades are important, Dr. Ziaja is very clear about what makes him most proud. "The best part of my job, hands down, is when I get to remove the patient's braces. Whether they're an adult or a child, they just can't stop smiling. It's wonderful to see the boost in self-confidence a great smile provides."

A full Diplomate of the American Board of Orthodontics, Dr. Ziaja uses all the latest in orthodontic technology, including computer diagnostics, space-age wires, pre-programmed brackets, clear braces, and Invisalign, ensuring his patients receive comfortable, faster, and effective treatments.

New patients don't need a referral from their dentist to see Dr. Ziaja. He truly cares about all aspects of the orthodontic process — including offering affordable, interest-free payment plans, complimentary orthodontic examinations, and convenient hours. Dr. Ziaja can create "The Magic of Your Smile!"
